

24164. Adulteration of apples. U. S. v. 137 Bushels of Apples. Product released under bond for removal of deleterious substances. (F. & D. no. 34807. Sample no. 18271-B.)

Examination of the apples involved in this case showed the presence of arsenic and lead in amounts that might have rendered them injurious to health.

On November 27, 1934, the United States attorney for the Eastern District of Missouri, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the district court a libel against 137 bushels of apples at St. Louis, Mo., alleging that the article had been shipped in interstate commerce on or about October 4, 1934, by Margaret Ringhausen, from Hardin, Ill., and charging adulteration in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. The article was labeled in part: "Grown and Packed by Margaret Ringhausen, Hardin, Illinois."

The article was alleged to be adulterated in that it contained added poisonous or deleterious ingredients, lead and arsenic, which might have rendered it injurious to health.

On December 4, 1934, Louis Keller, St. Louis, Mo., claimant, having admitted the allegations of the libel and having consented that judgment be entered condemning and forfeiting the product, a decree was entered ordering that the apples be released under bond, conditioned that they be rewashed to remove the deleterious substances.
